

Lord, You know the pain I've endured at the hands of others.

I give myself to You, the Healer.

I also submit to Your command to love everyone around me,

including my enemies.

May I not repay evil for evil.

May my heart not wish harm for those who have hurt me.

Instead, I pray for Your blessing on them.

Make me generous in grace and compassion, and strong enough to live at peace with everyone.

I praise You because justice is in Your nature, and I trust You to carry out justice as You see fit, when You see fit.

You are God, and I am not.

You are on the throne, and You say,

I give You honor, God,

and leave room for You to do what Your wisdom says is just and right.

Amen
