

Prayer to Our Lady of Kock

Sé do bheath' a Mhuire, atá lán de ghrásta, tá an Tiarna leat.
Is beannaithe thú idir mná agus is beannaithe toradh do bhruinne losa.

A Naomh Mhuire, a mháthair Dé, guí orainn na peacaithe, anois is ar uair ar mbás. Amen.

The image we used to add celtic graphics was painted by the eminent artist, Hector Garrido, whose work adorns many a religious greeting card, collector's plates and art books. There is scarcely an apparition or event in the life of Mary that he has not painted.

We are privileged to own a number of his beautiful works, all of them of Mary or the Holy Family. The image of Knock [link below] is one of our favorite contemporary Madonnas. This section of Celtic Saints is dedicated to him. You may find his work for purchase at almost any Catholic shop. The distributor is Reproducta, which supplies various outlets, especially Catholic establishments.

His depiction is officially known as Our Lady of Silence because Our Lady spoke no words at Knock, unlike her other famous apparitions. The message was in the tableau as related below. We had a typo related to one of the dates, which we corrected, from 1963 to 1936 the actual date of the interview of Mary Byrne.

In addition we have the complete and updated phone and fax information for the shrine in Ireland. The external links have been updated as well.
